* - Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer from a, b, c or d:

Karim always believed that telling the truth was easy — until one day, when he broke his friend's phone by mistake. He thought about lying to avoid trouble, but something inside him stopped him. That night, he couldn't sleep. His mind kept repeating, "A lie may protect you today, but it will hurt you tomorrow." So the next morning, he told his friend the truth and offered to fix the phone. To his surprise, his friend wasn't angry. "I respect you for being honest," he said with a smile. Karim felt a huge relief. He learned that lies might look simple at first, but they destroy trust. Truth may be hard to say, but it builds strong relationships. From that day, Karim decided that honesty would always be his rule in life. He learned that telling the truth is one of the most important values in life. When people are honest, they build trust and respect among others. On the other hand, lies may seem harmless at first, but they can easily grow and cause great damage.

22. What is the main idea of the passage?

- a) Telling lies is sometimes good.
- b) Honesty builds trust and respect.
- c) Friends should never argue.
- d) Phones are expensive.

23. What can you infer from the story?

- a) Karim values honesty more than comfort.
- b) Karim doesn't care about friendship.
- c) Karim is afraid of people.
- d) Karim doesn't like telling the truth.

24. The word "damage" in the passage is closest in meaning to:

- a) help
- b) growth
- c) advice
- d) harm

25. How did Karim's friend react to the truth?

- a) He got angry.
- b) He stopped talking to him.
- c) He respected Karim.
- d) He told a lie, too.

26. What lesson did Karim learn?

- a) Lies can protect people forever.
- b) Honesty is always the best choice.
- c) Friends shouldn't share secrets.
- d) It's okay to hide mistakes.

27. The sentence "A lie may protect you today, but it will hurt you tomorrow" means:

- a) Lies are useful.
- b) Truth is never important.
- c) Lies can cause problems later.
- d) People forget lies quickly.

28. What happens when people are honest?

- a) They lose their friends.
- b) They hurt others easily.
- c) They face more lies.
- d) They build trust and respect.
